About me

My name is Sandra Rad and I'm looking to learn how to materialize all my ideas into reality. For me, the world around us is a source of inspiration and I try to improve my skills every day so I can help develop better projects. I think coding let's me do that, it's a medium where my creativity can be fully tested. Being at the beginning of my journey in the IT field I quickly learned that patience and perseverance are the key to evolve, so I save a lot of them for my future.

I have three big passions: film, handmade and bakery. Doing one of them in my free time helps me get rid of the stress.
